FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention

BALLOT reform is marching Southward, but it will have a terrible time to climb over Senator Gorman and his legions of spoilsmen.

NOT only the Muncy bridge but all the other toll bridges in this county should be freed. A toll bridge is an abomination on the face of the earth.

THE South's plan of elevating the negro—by the neck—will not receive the indorsement of the Mohawk conference of next June, called to consider "ways and means to elevate" the colored race.

AN exhibition game of base ball in Boston on Thursday drew 20,000 paid admissions and 10,000 people were turned away, and it wasn't a good day for base ball either. Maybe this isn't going to be a great base-ball season, though.

Gov. HILL'S, recent veto of the Saxon Ballot Reform bill was unnecessarily long. The entire pith of it could have been expressed in those four favorite words of his, "I am a democrat." That explains everything—considering the kind of democrat the Governor means.

WHEN a colored desperado of Denver got home after having been fatally shot, he did not ask that a minister be sent for or that his family gather about the bedside to receive his dying benediction, but he gasped out to his wife to pull his boots off quick, as he did not want to die with them on. Besides disproving a declaration as to his condition when death should overtake him, he got himself ready for the golden slippers that his race set so much store by.

RECIPROCITY WITH SOUTH AMERICA.

Any feasible plan for closer trade relations between the United States and South American countries ought to receive the hearty support of the people of all the nations concerned. The matter has been widely discussed at different times, but nothing as yet has been accomplished. The Pan-American Conference has been the first practical step taken in the direction of reciprocity.

In bringing the Conference about, Mr. Blaine wisely foresaw the benefits which might follow. But the failure of the Conference to favor reciprocity with entire unanimity will not lead to the abandonment of effort on Mr. Blaine's part. As will be seen by an important dispatch from Washington which we print this morning, he has been in consultation with the Ways and Means Committee on the subject, and has made some suggestions which are worthy of careful consideration by Congress.

Until full and definite information is furnished the public as to Mr. Blaine's proposition it cannot be intelligently discussed. But on the general question of the desirability of such reciprocal relations as he suggests there can be no manner of doubt. It would be of great benefit to all concerned. If we could furnish the people of South America with such things as we now produce, and which they buy from Europe, and take their products in return, both parties to the contract would be benefited. One difficulty that seems to be in the way is the inability of the South America nations to raise sufficient revenue for their needs without imposing a duty on imports. But that difficulty may be overcome.

The share which the United States now has of the commerce of the nations to the South of us is out of all proportion to what it should be. The encouragement of our merchant marine by the proposed system of bounties will do considerable towards improving the situation. But there is need to supplement that by legislative agreements, such as have been proposed by the Pan American Conference. And if a practicable system of reciprocity grows out of this consultation, as seems probable, there will be great cause for rejoicing.

BALLOT REFORM IN RHODE ISLAND.

The substantial success achieved by the Australian ballot system in the State election held in Rhode Island Wednesday will gratify the friends and advocates of that reform in the method of voting. The law as originally enacted contained some defects, and these became apparent only at the last moment. The hurried attempt of the Legislature to correct them it was feared would not give sufficient time for the provisions of the act to become well understood. An open hostility to the law was also manifested by some leading Democrats, and a failure to comply with its terms by Democratic committees seemed likely to lead to the disfranchisement of innocent voters and to subsequent litigation.

But, notwithstanding these obstacles and others which necessarily arise in making so radical a change in the method of voting, the reform gained a surprising victory. The objection to the size of the ticket and the alleged confusion that might result from printing a large number of names on one ballot ought to have become conspicuous in this instance if anywhere. The tickets were large sheets of paper on which appeared eighty-four names, and from these the voter had to pick out the candidates for whom he wished to vote for the eighteen offices to be filled. There seemed to be no difficulty in voters complying with this regulation, although no special efforts had been made to educate the people in the new system.

The other objection brought against the Australian system, that the voting is necessarily slow, and consequently many voters are certain to be disfranchised, was proved to be groundless. Observation showed that the voting could go on as rapidly as the election officer could find the voters name and cry 'check.' By actual count twenty-two voters could have their names checked on the registry list, be admitted within the railing, prepare their ballots, vote and be outside the rail again in six minutes. This is an average of over three and a half votes to the minute, which is more rapid than the voting is usually done by the old system. In the Fourth Ward of the city of providence, where there was a registration of 1850, one-third of the names had been voted on before 11 o'clock in the forenoon and two-thirds by 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The large total vote, falling only 500 below the extraordinary poll of last year shows that the Australian system is no obstacle to a full vote.

Such a marked success on the first trial of the new method is highly encouraging. The leading cause for it, however, is the fact that the authorities were in sympathy with the reform and they provided ample facilities for giving it a full and fair test. Had they put the obstacles in its way which some Democrats were disposed to place there its defeat would have been as conspicuous as its success. The Australian ballot system has now been tried in State elections in Massachusetts, Montana and Rhode Island, and in each instance it has shown that it possesses all the advantages claimed for it. Its success cases will encourage its advocates to urge it upon the Legislatures of the thirty States that have not yet adopted the reform.

PROHIBITION IN IOWA.

The Republicans in Iowa, being entirely satisfied that the existing prohibitory laws, for which the party is largely responsible, have lamentably failed to secure the end sought to be accomplished, have taken the preliminary steps to abandon prohibition as a party measure. This is the only course open to them. They espoused the cause in good faith, and helped to secure the passage of laws which, it was believed, would prohibit the liquor traffic, but after several years of trial, finding that in many parts of the State evils sought to be suppressed have been increased rather than mitigated, they now turn to local option and high license as affording the best method for regulating what cannot be suppressed.

There are many Republicans in Iowa who will not change their views on this subject simply because the party may cease to espouse prohibition as a party measure. They will be left free to hold whatever opinion they may choose to entertain as to the best method of dealing with the drink evil, but the party, as such is entirely justified in resolving that hereafter it will not make prohibition a distinctive doctrine. A large number of Republicans have always been opposed to prohibition, believing it impracticable, and, therefore, detrimental to the party which espoused it. Where these differences are so manifest and so radical, and especially where the the failure of prohibition has been so clearly demonstrated, the manly way is to abandon it and try some other method of regulating the traffic.

THE WALLACE RENAISSANCE.

The fact that ex-Senator William A. Wallace has at last openly declared himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor does not necessarily mean that he will be nominated, but in the ordinary course of things he is most likely to be. He will have with him a large proportion of the party workers, and his personal friends throughout the State constitute a pretty effective organization all the time when he chooses to get into the saddle and lead them. This he has now concluded to do.

It is ten years since Mr. Wallace has been active as a Democratic leader in Pennsylvania. The last campaign made under his direction was that for Hancock in 1880, and Hancock's defeat and the close of Wallace's Senatorial term soon after combined to retire him from the commanding position in his party which he had held for many years. Since then the party organization has been pretty steadily in the hands of a faction not in harmony with him, and the party favors have been distributed to others. Mr. Wallace has had his grievances, and he has not been above feeling them in a way that has greatly disturbed his peace of mind.

Mr. Wallace's candidacy at this time has a number of significant features, some of which have been fully discussed and concern only the affairs of the Democrats themselves. There is one feature, however, of interest to the Republicans, which it will not be wise to overlook. With Wallace in the field it may be taken for granted that the Democratic organization, which has been at odds and ends for nearly a dozen years, will be brought into better shape and that whatever Democratic vote there is in the State will be polled. He has often proved his capacity as an organizer; and, while he could not win victories, he rarely failed to make his party do its best.

Just how much he will be able to accomplish in the way of getting his party together this year for a campaign already entered upon must be revealed by the uture. That party has been so thoroughly demoralized during the past few years that its members are hardly willing to trust each other over night, and so many of them have voted the Republican ticket so often that they rather like it. But with all this the Republicans will not forget the fact that they are likely to have as an opponent this year the most adroit and skillful politician in the Democratic party. This is worth knowing in time.—Philadelphia Press.

They Are Going to Try It Over.

R. B. Wigton & Sons yesterday entered suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for discrimination in freight rates.

The grounds for the suit are practically the same as in the case decided a week ago by an opinion from Judge Biddle.

In the former suit the company claimed over $288,000 as treble damages for discrimination in transportation of freight within and without the State of Pennsylvania. The triple damages were sued for on the ground that the company had incurred the penalty specified in the act of Assembly of June 4, 1883, which regulates the freight charges of railroad companies.

The railroad company demurred that the plaintiffs could not sustain the suit and Judge Biddle, in his opinion, sustained the demurrer on the ground that the question of inter-State commerce either from this State to foreign countries or to other States is a subject within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress and forbidden to the State as declared by the Supreme Court of the United States and therefore beyond the range of his jurisdiction.

The attorneys for Wigton & Sons, in the new suit, claim that these objections will be overcome and have made slight alterations in the claim to make it become a question for the local courts. The statement of facts of the case will be filed in a few days.

THE Pan-American Congress is not attracting so much attention now as when it went cantering over the country, but it seems to be doing some mighty sensible work. Generations to come will reap some of the benefits of this great Congress.

THE FACTS AS THEY ARE.

When the Watchman editor talks about "Simon Simpletons" and "Court House Ring Backers," he is undoubtedly indulging in the accustomed phraseology so universally natural to him for a period of six or more years during which time he treated the so called "Simon Simpletons" to annual doses of alleged truthful, but in reality fixed up by its "Court House Ring Backers," doses of self-satisfied assurance that the monetary affairs and financial statements of Centre county were all O. K. and now, when the self same editor fully knows that there is nothing wrong with the statement, he shuts his eyes to all sense of right or reason and, simply and wholly for political effects, treats his readers to weekly (weakly) doses of distressingly groundless and spurious assertions, that don't even have the semblance of argumentative force to back them, in the vain hope that he may make capital out of wind.

His pretended ignorance of the plain statement of facts as set forth in the REPUBLICAN two weeks ago is as excruciating to the majority of his readers as it is tiresome to us. But it does seem funny that a man, possessed of as much intelligence as Mr. Meek, is apparently so ignorant in this one particular that he openly acknowledges he dosen't know what "abatements" are. Probably if reference was made to Webster it might be possible to get the necessary information but then "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

But if the Watchman thinks that we have made the county pay out more State tax than was assessed it is badly mistaken and, in order to convince to the contrary we give the following full account of State tax :

State taxes levied for 1889	$9126.32
Uncollected	$3287.89
Abatements	293.64
Commissions for collecting	243.65
Assessors pay	658.00
Exonerations	791.66
Paid to State Treasurer	3000.00
M F Riddle for copying judgment and mortgages	68.00
C G Bilger, same	58.00
L A Schaeffer, reporting judgments	171.79
John F Harter, reporting mortgages	44.80
J B Strohm, keeping record of same	200.00
Cyrus Goss, Treas. Com	65.24
Balance in Treasury	149.04
Total	$9126.32

Now the above is the showing in the statement and on the books and it agrees with every explanation or showing this paper has yet made. In order that this showing may be full and clear we offer the following in explanation of a blunder of the Watchman's editor which, however, is excusable, as the blunder or error falls first upon a democratic board of Auditors and second on the printer who set up or the proof reader who read the late financial statement. Under the heading, in said statement, of "Cash paid to sundry persons on account of State Tax and charged to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvenia," will be found the seven items in the above table from "Tax paid to State Treasurer" to "Cyrus Goss, treasures' commission," inclusive, and in addition five miscellaneous items, aggregating $564.59, which were not paid out on account of State tax but which were purely items in account with the county and should have gone under the respective headings of "Miscellaneous Expenses" and "Refunding Account," as any person can easily see who will take the trouble to look them up. This said $564.59, after the Watchman corrects its figures in simple addition as given in its paper of last week, will account for the sum it charges us with making the commissioners collect, pay out and otherwise account for, over and above the amount of tax levied.

Now, we have just to say: there is such a thing as ignorance, and a desire to be enlightened; then there is such a thing as contrariness and bull-headedness—coupled with a determination not to acknowledge even the most convincing proof. Of course, we make no charges, we simply allow the public to read, judge and draw their own conclusions. But we do think that if the Watchman editor would try to substantiate some of his assertions and prove that the explanations that appeared in the Republican were not right, then there would be both logic and reason on his side of the controversy, and it would not sound so much like the yelping and barking of a downed feline. Then again; why don't he prove his assertions on "liabilities," "contracted indebtedness," etc., by the statements in the past as we asked him to do? In brief, why don't he do or say something else beside the few words that he prints week after week charging that there is something wrong but failing to show what it is, where it is or how it is?

The statement is all right, the Watchman knows it is and it fails to prove to the contrary; so don't allow yourselves, tax payer, to be fooled by any such befuddled arguments as it has recently set forth—it is only for effect.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Senator Hoar, chairman of the Senate committee on Election has been requested by the members of that committee to prepare a Federal election bill, they not taking kindly to Representative Lodge's blanket bill on the same subject which is now under consideration by the House committee on Elections From views expressed by the Republicans of that committee it is probable that the bill to be prepared by Mr. Hoar will be a very mild one, the object in view being principally to experiment in order to observe the workings of such a law.

Representative McComas' bill to prevent gerrymandering of Congressional districts, and which also provides that Representatives to the Fifty Second Congress shall be elected from districts composed of the same territory as those from which the Representatives in the Fifty first Congress were elected, promises to bring on a big political fight in Congress. The House committee on the election of President and Vice President and Representatives has, by a party vote, decided to report the bill favorably. The democrats on the committee, bitterly opposed the reporting of the bill and members of that party will do all they can to defeat the bill in the House, but as the republicans are solid in their support of the measure its passage is reasonably certain.

Gen. Lewis A. Grant, of Minnesota, has been appointed assistant Secretary of War under the recent act of Congress creating that office. He is a Vermonter, but since the war has resided in Iowa and Minnesota. He has a brilliant war record having been brevated Major General October 19, 1864, for gallant and meritorious conduct before Richmond and in the Shenandoah valley.

Senator Hiscock's select committee of the Senate has held one meeting to consider the World's Fair bill, and but little was accomplished because the Chicago people did not satisfy the members of the committee about their guarantee fund. Another meeting will be held this week when the Chicago folks will attempt to satisfy the enormous curiosity of some of the members of the committee. The committee does not seem disposed to hurry the matter at all and some of Chicago's friends here are getting alarmed.

The Iowa Republicans in Congress do not take any stock in the newspaper stories saying that the prohibiting law in that State will be repealed. Senator Allison said: "I am quite sure the movement for its repeal does not represent the dominant Republican sentiment of the State Representative Flick: "I don't believe that the law will be repealed or modified." Representative Dolliver: "From my information I don't believe the law will be repealed." Representative Sweeney: "My opinion is that it will not be repealed." Representative Lally: "In my opinion there will be no change in the law." Representative Reed: "I don't think the law will be repealed by the present legislature." Representative Conger: The law will not, and should not be repealed." Representative Kerr: "I don't think there is any danger of repeal." Representative Struble: "I don't think the law will be repealed."

Representative Henderson has introduced a joint resolution providing for the election of United States Senators by the qualified voters of the several states instead of by the legislatures as at present. It is possible that it may be adopted by the House but there it will stop, as the Senate as at present constituted, will never adopt such a law.

The Senate took up the Montana contested election case last week but did not dispose of it. It will come up again this week and probably be disposed of.

An effort will be made to get the new tariff bill before the House the last of this week, but the chances are rather against it. It has been before the whole committee nearly a week, and although numerous hearings have been given no changes have been made, and it is not probable that any, of any consequence will be made. The republican opposition to the bill, about which the democratic papers have been very much concerned, is of a very mild sort, and in no way jeopardizes the final passage of the bill.

Two democrats of the House—Stone of Missouri and Lane, of Illinois—got into a squabble on the pension question and the latter gentleman referred to the former as being "as ignorant of the relations between the government and the soldiers as a Hottentot."

The democrats of the House had another fit of the sulks when the vote was taken on the bill for the admission of Idaho and refused to vote. Speaker Reed counted enough of them to make a quorm and Idaho is half way in the Union.

At a conference of republican Senators held Saturday night it was agreed that the republicans of both House and Senate should get together on the silver question, and perfect a bill that will pass both.

THE opposition to putting a duty of fifteen per cent on hides is becoming quite general among even the Republicans. It is claimed, and upon good authority, that the tanners would suffer as well as the wearers of shoes and boots. Henry Cabbott Lodge, of Massachusetts, is making an especially hard fight for free hides.

HOW ICE IS MANUFACTURED.

An Interesting Description of this Very Simple Process.

The machinery and apparatus required for making ice commercially form an extensive plant. There must be a powerful engine to drive the pumps; great iron retorts to hold the aqua ammonia and generate the gas, and to receive it again; a long system of pipe coils for the circulation of the gas, and extensive vats in which the ice cans are placed and the ice formed:

The process is simple in its philosophy, and depends upon the heat absorbing power of a substance which is expanding after great condensation. The substance used in this case is ammonia Mixed with water to the amount of 26, per cent., it is placed in one or more great cylinders or retorts, which contain coils of pipe. Into these pipes steam is sent, heating the contents of the retort until the ammonia is separated from the water and forced out into another retort where it is subjected to a pressure of something over 200 pounds to the square inch, under which it liquefies.

In another room, which has double walls and ceiling and protected floors, as in a refrigerator, are arranged one or may be several vats, each perhaps 50 feet square and 10 feet high, in which are suspended from the top frame or covering as many cans, made of galvanized iron, as the space will accommodate. A convenient size is a can about 4 feet high, 8 inches wide one way and 16 inches the other, which will hold a cake weighing just 200 pounds. Between all these cans as they hang in the vat pass lines of iron pipe, connecting with mains outside that lead from the retorts, and the whole vat is filled with brine; so that when the cans are all in place the space between them is filled with salt water, in which they are immersed up to their rims. The brine is kept in motion by pumps, so as to maintain a uniform temperature throughout.

Such is the whole apparatus for manufacture. In the great condensation to which the ammonia gas has been subjected in order to liquefy it, it has been obliged to part with its heat, and the large pipes in which it is carried to the vats are white with frost, showing how cold they are.

When ice is to be made the cans are filled with dietilled water—the machinery for producing which is a part of the plant—and covered with thick caps. Then the stopcocks are turned, and the ammonia admitted by the main pipe into the coils that run throughout the brine in the vat.

The instant the tremendous pressure is relieved by opening the stopcocks, the liquid ammonia expands into gas, and rushes to fill every coil of the pipes. In this expansion it must reassume the amount of heat it parted with when undergoing condensation, and it extracts it from the surrounding brine, which presently becomes so cold that it in turn extracts all the heat there is in the distilled water within the cans, which at once begins to congeal, as would the water outside the cans were it not saline and in motion.

In a few hours each can is found to contain a block of solid ice. A traveling pulley is then rolled over it, hooks are fastened in the can, it is hoisted out of the vat, lowered for a moment into a bath of warm water to loosen the ice, and then upset, whereupon the block slides out, and is taken away to be stored, or put into a delivery wagon, or placed in front of a circular saw and divided into smaller blocks.

A perfect block of such ice is as white and transparent as a cube of flint glass —a perfection due to the absence of any air whatever in the distilled water from which it is made. Spring or hydrant water, however pure, will not answer here, as it contains so much air that the ice would look like snow and have little solidity or value. With the greatest precaution, however, some air will get mixed into almost every canful, and will appear in the ice as a core or tree shaped center of quill-like bubbles, which is sometimes exceedingly beautiful. The freezing always begins at the bottom and sides, driving the air to the center and proceeding toward the top, so that the cans do not burst.

After the ammonia gas has done its work it is returned to a retort and thence conducted again to its starting place, where it is reabsorbed by the water, and can be used over again. Thus the process goes on continually as long as needed. There is some waste of course, which is supplied by pure of anhydrous ammonia. One of the curiosities of the factory is to set a cup of this on the stove. It will boil almost immediately, but the unlearned visitor is astounded to see mercury drop far below the freezing point when it is plunged into the vaporous ebullition.

Attached to many ice factories are cold storage rooms, in which a low temperature is maintained by pumping into them or their surrounding chambers the cold air produced in the ice making The pump which does this will be fire hot at one end, where it gets its steam power, and thickly glazed with ice at the other end, where the cold air is fed to it.

INVENTIONS BY WOMEN.

It was a California women who invented the baby carriage, which netted her over $50,000; while to Mrs. Catharine Greene, the wife and widow of Washington's ablest officer, is due the honor of inventing the cotton gin, which is one of those distinctively American inventions the value and importance of which have been recognized by the whole industrial world.

A horseshoe machine, which turns out completed shoes, was the invention of a woman; also the reaper and mower, the idea of which came into the brain of Mrs. Anna Manning of Plainville, N. J., to whom is also accredited a clover cleaner. Mrs. Manning seems to have stimulated the inventive genius of her neighbors, for a few years after her reaper and mower was patented, Mrs. Elizabeth, of the same State, took out a patent for an improvement of this machine, being a device for changing the knives without stopping the wheels.

One of the most complicated machines ever made is that for the manufacture of reinforced bottom paper bags. It is so curiously ingenious that how it was contrived passes the ordinary comprehension. It was the invention of Miss Maggie Knight, who from it and other inventions in the same line realized a large fortune.

A street sweeper of great merit was devised and patented by a New York lady who had a costly dress ruined by the mud splashed on it from a defective machine.

Most remarkable of all is the invention of Mrs. Mary B Walton, for deadening the sound of carwheels. She lived near the elevated railroad in New York, and was greatly annoyed by the sound of the roaring trains passing her house. The most noted machinists and inventors of the country had given their attention to the subject without being able to furnish a solution, when, lo! a woman's brain did the work, and her appliance, proving perfectly successful, was adopted by the elevated roads, and she is now reaping the rewards of a happy thought.

Phenomenally Sold.

On the wharf at Kittyhunk inlet there stood a mite of a boy. As we rowed ashore from the fishing yawl he eyed us critically and when we came within hailing distance he sang out, without the least embarrassment, 'Been a-fishin fellers?'

'Yes,' replied our good natured host; 'we fished for an hour or two this morning.'

'Git enny?'

'Yes.'

'How many?' and a pair of eager eyes swept the bottom of tender for evipence.

'Can you count, sonny?' asked the smart man of the party.

'Kinder.'

'Well, we got just as many first as you've got fingers and toes. Now, how many have we caught?'

'Twenty-two,' came the prompt response.

'Oh, no!'

'Then you're lyin.'

'Then we're what?'

'Lyin'.'

'Oh, no!'

'All right,' said the smart one; 'here's a dollar. Now count your fingers and toes, and if you haven't just twenty the dollar's yours.'

Two little bare feet came down over the stringpiece of the wharf, and as a brown, chubby hand made a grab for the dollar (and got it) the writer will cease to care for the regard of his fellow men if that Kittyhunk urchin didn't have six toes on each foot.

Reporting Rapid Talk.

"Speaking of rapid talkers makes me think of the time I was sent to report a lecture by Henry Ward Beecher," said the mayor's private secretary, Tom O'Neill, at the press club the other day. "I was something of a stenographer and had always been able to keep pace with every man I had been assigned to take.

So, with no misgivings, I sharpened my pencil and took my seat at the reporters' table and waited for the distinguished divine to begin. The subject was 'Evolution,' which, in those days, I knew absolutely nothing about. Well, he started in, and for a minute everything went all right. The second minute he took a spurt, and I found myself pushing my pencil at a high rate of speed. The third minute he put on more steam and I had to write so fast my pencil got hot and came near setting the paper afire. The fourth minute he spurted again and I was lost. He kept on spurting until at last he struck his gait.

"Heavens! how he talked. No manuscript. No notes. He just stood up there by his desk with one hand on it, the other by his side. His mouth was open, and without changing the expression of his face or moving a muscle the words came rolling out one after another like drops of lead from the summit of a shot tower."—Chicago Journal.

AGRICULTURAL.

Seeding Clover on Spring Wheat—Ashes as a Special Fertilizer.

The usual practice among farmers is to sew the wheat in the fall, in this section, and sow clover on the wheat in the spring. This is done in order that the growing wheat may shade the young clover until the clover is well rooted and able to take care of itself, not every farmer, however, secures a perfect stand of clover, as it is impossible to cover the seeds. Some wheat fields are harrowed in spring, and with benefit, but the ground is usually too wet to do so when the clover seed is sown, which should be done very early. The causes of failure to secure a good "catch" of clover may be due to inferior seed, to insufficient quantity of seed, to washing by rains, to destruction by birds, and to exposure to cold: Before the seed can germinate it must be covered, even if but slightly. Much of the seed is left on the surface, not being washed in by the rains or melting snows, and is lost.

Ashes and Clover.

The two special fertilizers for clover are lime and potash. When the land is occupied by wheat the wheat uses potash liberally, and the young clover must compete with the wheat in securing a supply. The first growth of the clover after it is seeded is the most important for an early start and rapid growth place it more securely beyond the injury of drought later in the season. The food most suitable for young clover should be that which is soluble, so as to enable the young plants to immediately use it. Lime, therefore should be applied in a form that is soluble, hence plaster answers the purpose: Wood ashes provide potash ready for the rain to dissolve it. If, then, an application of 100 pounds of plaster and 500 pounds of wood ashes be applied on an acre, the mixture will greatly aid the young clover, as well as assist the growing wheat to push rapidly forward.

Last Opportunity for Washington via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The last of the popular series of excursions to Washington, which have been so successfully run by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company during the winter and spring, is fixed for Thursday, April 24th, a date which is without doubt the most desirable that could be selected. Washington at that time is beginning to show all the activity of spring, and the beautiful parks in which the city abounds are verdant with shrubbery and blooming with early flowers. Congress is busy, the city is thronged with prominent people, and the actual working of the Government is seen to the best advantage.

Excursion tickets will be sold as heretofore at $9.00 from Pittsburg, and proportionate rates from other stations, with the privilege of a stop-over in Baltimore in either direction. These tickets will be good going on any regular train of that date, except Limited Express, and to return within ten days In addition a special train of Pullman Parlor Cars and Day Coaches will leave Pittsburg at 8.00 a. m. and run through to Washington.

Pleasant side trips may be made from Washington to Old Point Comfort, Norfolk, Richmond, Petersburg and Mt Vernon at reduced rates.

The specific excursion rate from Bellefonte is $7.25 and train connecting with the special will leave at 10.25 a. m.

Evolution of an Idea.

A couple of old salts met after a long absence and the following animated conversation ensued:

"Well, old man, how are you getting on?"

"First rate; I have taken a wife."

"A very sensible idea."

"Not a bit of it; she's a regular Tartar."

"Then I'm sorry for you, mate."

"There's no need; she brought me a large vessel as her marriage portion."

"Then you made a good bargain after all?"

"Nothing to boast of, I can tell you the ship turned out a worthless old tinder box."

"Then I'm sorry I spoke."

"Bah! You can speak as much as you like! The old tub was well insured, and went down on her first voyage."

"So you got the pull there, anyhow?"

"Not so much, mate; I only got 5,000 halers out of the job as my share."

"That was too bad."

"Too bad? Nothing of the sort! Wife was on board and went down with the rest.

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION.

PAINLESS CHILDBIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in Childberth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness-swelled limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians every where as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. MACDONOUGH'S VICTORY AT PLATTSBURG.

Macdonough's spirit was of the highest, his mood heroic. A captain of one of his ships signalled to inquire if it would not be well to serve a ration of grog to the crews before the conflict opened—a custom universal in those days on fighting ships thus placed. He declined the suggestion and signalled back that his men should fight that fight braced by no other stimulant than their native courage and their patriotic love for their country. It has been said that his brave reply was received with cheers by the entire fleet. In this brave style and spirit, as the British bore up against them, the Americans stood silently and bravely at their guns, while the two hostile armies on the shore paused in their initial skirmishing, each regiment standing at rest to see the fight begin.

The English fleet was brought into action in a manner worthy of the brave Downie's reputation and the best traditions of their naval service. He bore up against the Saratoga, and anchored within two cable-lengths without firing a shot. The Confiance was a frigate; her armament thirty-seven guns, with a crew of three hundred men. There were many of her officers and men who had fought under Nelson at Trafalgar and knew how to fight a ship in silence until she sunk. Lying thus at shortest range, on level water, abreast of the Saratoga, she poured into her her broadside of twenty-four pounders with an explosion as of one gun. The effect of the awful discharge was terrific Macdonough's ship shook from stem to stern as the monstrous weight of plunging metal struck her, and staggerd like a man hit suddenly on the breast by a giant's fist. That one fearful discharge disabled forty of her crew.

Thus was the battle opened, and for two hours and a half, with the thunder of heated guns, the crash of shattered wood, the shout and cheers of men, the snapping of booms and yards and masts, swathed from the sight in sulphurous smoke, the brave antagonists fought it out. None flinched. The brave Downie fell dead on his deck. Twice was Macdonough down. Once the head of a gunner, severed from his body, was driven against him with such violence that it knocked him into the scuppers. No man was called wounded in either fleet if he could keep on his feet or pass ammunition on his knee. Midshipman Lee of the Confiance said that he doubted if there were five men out of the three hundred that were not killed or wounded. The Saratoga was hulled fifty-five times and was twice on fire. The Confiance was hulled one hundred and five times. The Americans lost one man in every eight, killed or wounded, and at the close of the action there was not a mast in either fleet fit for use. In both fleets the lower rigging hung down as if but just placed, in setting up, over the mastheads. The masts themselves were so splintered that they looked like bunches of matches, and the sails, tattered and begrimed with powder, like bundles of old rags. Well informed writers have said that it was the bloodiest naval battle ever fought by a fleet of ships.

CYCLONES AND FLOODS

Financial Aid Will Be Gratefully Received by Louisville.

THE WATER STILL RISING.

Bonydee Levee Broken—Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi Suffer from the Torrent—The Towns of Clarendon and Mayersville Submerged.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 5.—One week has now elapsed since the tornado, and the city is rapidly recuperating from its effects. The work of repair in the wrecked district is going vigorously forward, and that portion of the city is a beehive of carpenters, masons and laborers. Business has resumed its regular channels. The danger of a water famine from the destruction of the stand pipe at the water works has been averted by the substitution of a temporary apparatus which has been working satisfactorily for two days. Water will be turned on to all classes of consumers to-morrow and many factories which were forced to stop will resume.

Will Be Grateful for Aid.

An exaggerated impression has gone abroad as to the extent of the district devastated. Except in the direct track of the whirling tornado no damage was done, and nineteen-twentieths of the city is unharmed. In fact, outside the cyclone's path the storm was not one of unusual severity. There is no suffering for food or for shelter, but many poor people who lost their homes will require money to rebuild.

Louisville people are subscribing liberally, but will not be able to meet all the demands upon their liberality. While Louisville is not soliciting from the outside, voluntary subscriptions from other cities will be gratefully received and usefully applied.

The Death List.

Only two or three of the wounded by the cyclone have since died, and the list of deaths is only seventy-six—a gratifying reduction from the wild reports the first day that hundreds were killed. The Union depot will be rebuilt on a larger scale, and the tobacco district will be built up better than it was before. None of the public buildings in the city were damaged in the least.

The People Use Boats.

BASTROP, La., April 5.—The Bonydee levee, twelve miles east of here, has broken. It protected the richest part of this parish, and as the overflow water in Bayou Bartholomew is almost up to the highest point, it is feared that the lower country will soon be inundated.

Three inches of rain fell Wednesday night, the heaviest fall for years. All small streams are much swollen and several bridges on the Monroe road are washed away.

HELENA, Ark., April 5.—Information received here from Clarendon, Ark., is to the effect that the town is again overflowed, and the White river is still rising. The people of Clarendon are using boats to get about town.

NEW ORLEANS, April 5.—Dispatches received here report that within the past two days unusually heavy rains have fallen throughout the lower Mississippi, Kansas, Onachita and Red river valleys, generally accompanied by severe winds.

Another Cyclone.

GALENA, Ills., April 5.—A hurricane passed over this city about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, coming from the southwest. Rain fell in torrents during its prevalence, and a rumbling sound was heard like that which characterized the Hazel Green tornado here a few years ago, causing great consternation among the people.

The roof of Wunbruster & Ross' furniture factory and several others in the same block were badly damaged, and the smokestack of the Galena boot and shoe factory was blown down. On the hill in West Galena fences were leveled and trees uprooted generally.

Houses Unroofed.

MONMOUTH, Ills., April 5.—A cyclone struck the southwest part of the city at noon Thursday, causing considerable damage to property. No lives were lost. Several barns and small buildings were destroyed. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy round house was blown down, burying an engine in the debris.

CHAMPAIGN, Ills., April 5.—During a heavy wind and rain storm the roofs of three business houses, occupied by A. Wityer and Moody, clothiers; John Geres, dry goods, and the Fair, were blown off in Urbana. No other damage is reported.

Mayersville Inundated.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 5.—A telephone message from Mayersville, this state, just received, announces that the entire town and surrounding country have been overflowed by a sudden rise in Steele's bayou. The water is over three feet deep on the higher levels of the town and rising fast. A great deal of stock is endangered. Mayersville is a place of 300 inhabitants, but nearly all the whites have left the town. No new crevasses are reported.

They Left Not a Clew Behind.

PATERSON, N. J., April 5.—Paterson just now has an epidemic of missing men. On Thursday last John Adams, a prominent young man, dropped out of sight in a mysterious manner and without any apparent cause. Adams attended a social gathering of Freemasons, and, when the affair broke up, started for his home. He has not been seen since. On Tuesday Edward Versele, a saloon keeper at 24 Lafayette street, told his wife when he left home that he was going up town. He has not been seen since. Friday morning it was reported to the police that William J. Orth, of 10 Ramapo avenue, left his home the day before and had not turned up since then. Orth is slightly demented. Not the slightest clew was left behind of any of the three men.

Good Friday in New York.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Good Friday was more generally observed in the city as a day of rest and holiday than ever before. Most of the city departments and all of the exchanges were closed and the day wore the semblance of a semi-holiday. The banks were obliged to keep open, as it is not a legal holiday. Services were held in all the Christian churches.

President Day's Mother Dies.

PORTLAND, Conn., April 5.—Mrs. Isaac H. Day, mother of J. B. Day, president of the New York club, died here of pneumonia. Deceased was 74 years old. Less than a month ago Mr. Day was called here to attend the funeral of his sister.

BONNER'S OFFSPRING HEARD FROM.

LAURELTON, Union Co., Pa.

GENNTLEMEN:—

Dear Sirs—Yours of the 15th inst. received and contents duly noted. The colt you alluded to—"Grover Cleveland" by name—was bred from Bonner and a blooded Hambletonian mare. He was born May 8th, 1885, making him five years old by May 8th next. Color, black. When two years old he weighed 1000 pounds and had one mare colt—a good one—now two years old. When three years old he had three mares which brought three colts, all good ones. Last summer he had 17 mares, of which 14 are with foal.

He stands 15¾ hands high in his bare feet this morning and weighs about 1200 pounds. When he was three years old he trotted in 2:50. I intend to have him kept for service this season. I worked him right along since he was two years old. He is a perfect built horse in every particular and a square stepper. Can be bought, before the season opens, for five hundred dollars cash and not a dollar less.

Very respectfully yours, D. O. BOWER.

SWEPT BY A TORNADO.

Prophetstown, Ills., Blown from the Face of the Earth.

FIFTY REPORTED KILLED.

A Train of Forty Stock Cars Literally Smashed to Atoms and the Cattle Killed—The Wires Down and the Reports Meager—The Killed.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—Advices received here at 3 o'clock this morning say that the village of Prophetstown, Ills., has been blown from the face of the earth by a tornado. The only definite news obtainable was received from the train hands of a stock train, which pulled out of Prophetstown just after the disaster.

The town contained about 400 inhabitants, and is situated about forty miles from Burlington, Ia., on a small branch of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road. The train hands report that the railroad depot was blown down and the station agent was buried beneath the ruins.

A train of forty stock cars standing on a side track was literally blown to atoms and the cattle killed. Fragments from the buildings in the town were carried through the air for long distances.

A small Presbyterian church on the main street was blown down and the steeple carried fully 100 yards. The only names of the dead now obtainable are:

The Killed.

William Vance, station agent, buried in the ruins of the depot.

Charles Murray, an old man, who worked for the railroad; killed by a freight car being blown over him.

Frank Wilson (or Nelson), a railroad man, who lived near the depot; killed in the ruins of his own house.

There were eight persons in the Wilson or Nelson house, and the trainmen think all have been killed.

Later.—A telegram just received says that from forty to fifty people were killed at Prophetstown. The news has been verified by a short message.

Wires All Down.

BURLINGTON, Ia., April 9.—Reports of the cyclone at Prophetstown are very meager. The report through a railroad office says that a stock train was just leaving the place when the storm struck it. Forty cars were blown to atoms and the entire town was swept away, many people being killed.

CHICAGO, April 8.—Both the Western Union and the railway wires to the village of Prophetstown, in which fifty people are reported to have been killed by the cyclone, are prostrated.

At the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway, however, a brief dispatch was received before the wires went down, which said that the town had been visited by a severe wind storm, which carried the station at that point from its foundation and wrecked a grain elevator and several houses.

An Historic Town.

Prophetstown is one of the most historic villages in Illinois. Situated on Rock river, in Whitesides county, about a score of miles from the spot where it empties into the Mississippi river, it has been in existence as an Indian village as far back as the traditions of the northwest extend.

During the dark and bloody days when Gen. Whitesides, for whom the county in which Prophetstown is located is named, was fighting Black Hawk and his savages, Prophetstown was a small Indian village, and it is related that the soldiers burned the wigwams and looted the villiage, though the Indians who had occupied it had hitherto been on friendly terms with the whites. The name has an Indian origin, the "Prophet," the great Tecumseh's brother, having made the village his headquarters.

'Twas a Race for Life.

CARTHAGE, Ills., April 9.—William Morgan, his wife and several children, residing on a farm near Alymouth, in this county, had a horrible experience with a mad dog on Sunday. They had started to church in a farm wagon, and their big house dog, as usual, followed them. The dog was the pet of the family and always followed them to church. Half way on the road to the church it was noticed the dog began to act strangely, and then suddenly began to froth at the mouth and run around a circle. Morgan saw that the dog was in rabies, and that death stared himself and children in the face. He whipped up his horses to a dead run, and the maddened brute followed foaming at the mouth and jumping toward the wagon. The mother and children were terrified, while Morgan alternately lashed the horses and pounded the brute over the head with his whip. When Crooked creek was reached the dog went into spasms, and in this condition was killed by Morgan. A year ago a young lad named Yates died with rabies from a dog's bite in this neighborhood.

The Field of Labor.

CHICAGO, April 9.—The plumbers' strike was practically settled at a conference between committees of the junior plumbers and master plumbers. The conditions of settlement are a compromise and provide a minimum of $3.50 a day for all journeymen plumbers and an increase of 25 per cent. in the wages of juniors.

The cigar makers settled one of their grievances yesterday, when the Phœnix Cigar company took back all of its old men, about sixty in number, and agreed hereafter to employ none but union men.

LOWELL, Mass., April 9.—The carpenters, plasterers, stone and brick masons, plumbers, gas and steam pipe men are now working nine hours in agreement with the Master Builders' association.

QUINCY, Mass., April 9.—The granite cutters have demanded nine hours and thirty-one cents an hour. The granite manufacturers will concede the nine hours, but decline to pay more than twenty-eight cents. The workmen will maintain their position.

Treasurer Dixon Sent to Prison.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich. April 9.—Charles H. Dixon, formerly deputy county treasurer, who was recently arrested in Chicago and brought here for trial on a charge of embezzlement, he having appropriated to his own use several thousand dollars in money belonging to the county, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment at hard labor in the state prison at Jackson.

They Ate Bologna.

AURORA, Ills., April 9.—Thirty cases of trichiniasis have been reported to the authorities in this city. The disease started in the family of August Dittman. Six of the cases reported resulted from the eating of bologna sausage.

She Broke Her Neck.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 9.—Mrs. Helen Callis fell down an elevator at the East Side Savings bank building early Tuesday morning and broke her neck.

THE SPRING ELECTIONS.

The Result in the Several States So Far as Heard From.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 9.—In the city election R. E. De Forest (Dem.) was elected mayor by 525 majority over Civilion Fones (Rep.) Fred C. Mullins, city clerk; Charles D. Mills, city treasurer, and George Watson, town clerk (all Democrats), were elected.

CINCINNATI, April 9.—The vote at the municipal election was very light. The Republicans have a majority of one in the board of education and of two in the board of councilmen. The Democrats elected all other officers by about 2,000 majority, except clerk of the police court, whom the Republicans elected by 2,000 majority.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—The city election passed off quietly, with not more than 60 per cent. of the vote polled. The Democrats elect their entire ticket by majorities ranging from 10 to 1,200 and make gains in the council. The city, on a poll, is from 200 to 400 Republican.

NORWALK, O., April 9.—The election here resulted in a division of the offices between the two parties.

MANSFIELD, O., April 9.—The Democrats elected their city ticket.

TOLEDO, O., April 9.—The municipal election here gives the city a Democratic common council and a Republican board of aldermen, with a Republican majority of one on joint ballot. Henry Charry, Republican candidate for police commissioner, was swamped, as was J. C. Gribben for street commissioner. The vote was very light.

DAYTON, O., April 9.—Returns are late in coming in owing to the city having been redistricted, in consequence of which there was only one polling place in each ward. The Democrats have elected their entire city ticket, and carried eleven out of fifteen wards. J. E. D. Ward (Dem.), for mayor, has about 1,000 majority over Charles F. Carno (Rep.) The Democrats will have an overwhelming majority in the city council and board of education, both of which have hitherto been Republican.

DETROIT, Mich., April 9.—Charter elections were held very generally throughout the state. In many instances the issues were purely of a local character, but where politics entered into the fight the returns so far as received show Democratic victories. Among the larger places, Kalamazoo, Ypsilanti, Marshall, Holland, Munroe and Hillsdale went Republican; while Lansing, Grand Rapids, Jackson, West Bay City and Muskegon have gone almost solidly Democratic. In the villages and townships the parties are about equally divided, with slight Democratic majorities in the preponderance.

KEOKUK, Ia., April 9.—In the municipal election the Democrats elected the assessor and four aldermen. The Republicans elected two aldermen.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 9.—The election here was very quiet, only a light vote being polled. The entire Republican ticket was elected.

EDGERTON, Kan., April 9.—After one of the most hotly contested campaigns ever known here, the women's ticket was elected as follows: Mayor, Mrs. W. H. Kelley; police judge, Mrs. Thomas Greer; councilmen, Mrs. S. F. Ewart, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Holden, Mrs. Nat Ross and Mrs. Brown.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 9.—In the municipal election here the Democrats carried every ward in the city for councilmen and city officials. The township election returns indicate the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 9.—In the township elections the Democrats elected their entire ticket. The vote was light.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 9.—A light vote was polled in the township election. The entire Democratic ticket was elected by an overwhelming majority. Reports from the country indicate that eighteen out of twenty trustees were elected by the Democrats.

An Interesting Career.

WISSAHICKON, Pa., April 9.—The anniversary of the one hundred and fifty-eighth birthday of the distinguished astronomer and mathematician, David Rittenhouse, who was born near Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa., was observed by the Rittenhouse family on Tuesday by a reunion at Maple Spring hotel at this place. Mr. Rittenhouse at an early age showed great mechanical skill and made a clock without previous instruction, afterwards following clock making as a trade. In 1755 he constructed an orrery which was purchased by Princeton college. He received a commission from the government in 1763 to determine the initial boundary line since known as Mason and Dixon's line, the measurements accepted being made with instruments of his own construction. He made a successful observation of the transit of Venus June 3, 1769. He was a member of the provincial legislature of 1775 and of the state constitutional convention, and was state treasurer from 1776 to 1780 and director of the United States mint from 1792 to 1795. The American Philosophical society elected him its president to succeed Benjamin Franklin, and he was chosen fellow of the Royal Society of London in 1795. His grandfather, William Rittinghuysen, was a Hollander and built the first paper mill in the United States on the banks of the Wissahickon 100 years ago in September, 1789.

Gone with His Wife's Stepdaughter.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 9.—Frank Garrick is reported to have eloped with a stepdaughter of his wife, with whom he ran away two years ago. After a year's search his wife found the couple living together in Manchester, N. H., having one child. Garrick was at that time persuaded to return to his wife, and they have since been keeping a boarding house here. Last week Garrick decoyed his wife from home, packed up his valuables and left probably for Boston, where it is supposed the girl joined him.

Killed by a Train.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 9.—Burrell Ragsdale, his mother and his younger brother used a bicycle to go to a neighbor's, above Newnan. At Powells they were struck by a wildcat construction train. Burrell Ragsdale was so badly injured that he died at midnight. His mother was instantly killed. The boy escaped. Ragsdale was an employe of the railroad.

The Coming Man.

M P Handy, in Phila. North American.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—General Hastings is regarded here as the coming man in Pennsylvania politics. In the comparatively modest position of Adjutant General on Gov. Beaver's staff he has managed in a very short while to impress himself most favorably upon the country. He first came into national view at the Chicago Convention which nominated Harrison for President. His tall figure, commanding voice and felicity of expression combined to make his speech placing Sherman before the Convention live in the memory of everybody in the vast audience which he addressed. A year later he challenged the admiration of the whole country by his ability, vigor and endurance in the discharge of his duty at Johnstown in the days following the disaster which befell that town. It was there that his wonderful faculty of organization was consciously shown. President Harrison was so much impressed with it and other characteristics of Gen. Hastings, to say nothing of his war record, that he offered him the place of Commissioner of Pensions when Corporal Tanner had to walk the plank. Hastings took a day to consider the matter and declined with thanks. The administration is ready to take him up and do well by him at any time.

Wedding in High Life.

On Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, Mr. Augustus G. Paine, Jr., son of Col. A. G. Paine, a large manufacturer of New York City was joined in holy wedlock with Miss Maud Eustice Potts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Potts, of this place. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, and was performed by Rev. J. O. Davis, of the Episcopal church. No guests were invited and there were none present only the immediate members of the two families. A few costly and handsome presents were received. The bride and groom departed on the 10.30 a. m. train for Montreal, Canada.

An appeal will be held at the Commissioners office in Bellefonte on Wednesday, May 7th, 1890, between the hours of 9 and 3 o'clock when and where persons interested may attend if they think proper.

H. G. ROYER,
Mercantile Appraiser.

Two Brave Little Girls.

Two little girls aged seven and four years respectively, took supper at the Park House Williamsport, last evening, having traveled from Stockton, California, a distance of 3,218 miles, on their way to Philadelphia. They had tags on their backs, and only railroad conductors to look after them. This shows the almost entire safety of travel on American railro

QUITE A CONTRAST.

Andrews, in This Place, Has Real Grit—Carter, in Ebensburg, Has Weakened Perceptibly.

His last Sunday on earth Alfred Andrews spent mostly in a reverential and worshiping way. He rose late and ate a good breakfast, read considerably in the bible and prayed earnestly. He partook heartily of a good dinner, and enjoyed the meal. He always seems glad to listen to the teachings and participate in the services held in his cell by his spiritual adviser, and on Sunday they seemed doubly comforting. The contingent of the Y M C A., which holds regular services in his cell, was there on Sunday afternoon as usual.

Andrews has not yet weakened the least bit and it now is the opinion of those who see him daily that he will not to the end, but that he will be able to tread the gallows with as firm a step as Hopkins did. Only two days more and then the result will be known.

WAS HE INSANE?

The following we take from Friday's Philipsburg Daily Journal;

From a letter received to-day from one who was brought up in Ponsanooth where the murderer Andrews was born the writer says:

"If he were sane he must have had some motive for committing such a dastardly and felonious deed. You know it is a law amongst mental scientists that men never act without a motive. I am impressed with the thought that he was insane. Do you think a sane man would have acted in the way he did and would say what he did. I have grounds for my opinions: at least quite suficient upon which to base a theory of insanity. I never knew the boy, but know his father very well. His father, grandfather, uncles and other relatives were all subject to periodical attacks of insanity. I don't know whether you knew his father or not, but he should have been in an asylum years ago, for he was more like a madman. This I know from my own observation and experience. It is impossible for such a father to have a son who will not be damaged in his mental faculties."

ANOTHER TO BE HANGED.

A special dispatch from Ebensburg on Saturday says: "The rope with which Charles Carter, the colored murderer, is to be hanged on Wednesday next, was received at Ebensburg on Wednesday. It came from Jacob Bupp's factory in Allegheny city, Carter's being the eighty fifth hangman's rope which Mr. Bupp has made. They cost $25 apiece. They are about twenty five feet long and half an inch thick, made by hand of the very best hemp. Work on the scaffold was commenced Thursday, and Sheriff Steinman says that Carter has weakened very perceptibly of late, and seems to fully realize his terrible situation. He sleeps very little at night, seeming to be afraid of the silence, but takes his rest between daylight and noon. He has a brother in Pittsburg and two sisters in Amelia county, Va., and has asked that the sisters be not informed as to his fate. His parents are dead, his mother having been taken from him when he was 9 years old, and since then he has been a wanderer. It is a coincidence not at all pleasant to the Sheriff that the execution takes place on his (the Sheriff's) birthday, and he would much rather celebrate it in some other manner. It is also the anniversary of Lee's surrender at Appomattox.

Nice Things and All True.

The Bellefonte correspondent of Williamsport Grit had the following to say in Sunday's paper about the new postmaster in this place.

Our postmaster, J. A. Fiedler, is proving himself a daisy. He has made so many improvements over the old style of conducting the office that he is entitled to a vote of thanks from the patrons of the office. Under Dobbins the office windows were all closed until 9.20 in the morning and kept closed until the 10.30 mail was changed. No one could get a stamp until too late to mail the letter. Now the window is kept open all the time, and stamps can be procured without unnecessary delay. While the office was up town it became necessary to close the mail thirty minutes before the train was due, and when the office was moved to the Bush Arcade the old custom was kept up, although it is not two minutes walk to the station. Mr. Feidler now keeps the mail open until within ten minutes of train time. Besides these two changes he keeps open and distributes the night mail which arrives at 8.49 p. m. Formerly the office closed promptly at 8 o'clock, and the people had to wait for the night mail until morning. He has also procured a special pouch between here and Philadelphia, which arrives at 4.30 p. m., bringing the Philadelphia papers by mail. The last mail collected in Philadelphia in the morning arrives in this pouch also, instead of 5.20 as it used to do. Altogether he has made so many changes for the better that he is commended by the business men irrespective of party feeling or politics.

Thousands of Young Trout.

On Saturday ten thousand young trout from the State hatching house at Corry, were sent to Gillantown, this county, where they were placed in the small mountain streams. On Friday forty-five thousand were shipped to Altoona for distribution.

Easter Sunday.

Easter Sabbath dawned fair and lovely—thus causing a warm and tender influence to permeate all humanity which, perhaps, accounted for the very large attendance at all the churches. Who could bask in the light of God's sunshine and inhale the pure air without uttering a silent prayer of thankfulness to the giver of all blessings? Even the bells chiming from the steeples, seemed to take on new sweetness and their calling to worship in God's sanctuary was almost irresistable.

Many new and charming Easter bonnets and costumes graced the sacred edifices. This was as it should be; for has not God made everything in nature as lovely as it can be? and has not humanity a right to copy after the creator, and make itself as beautiful as possible? Many of the churchs, also, were beautifully decorated in the interior with exquisite flowers and vines. The Presbyterian church, especially, has not presented such an inviting appearance for several years—it, on Sunday, being a veritable eden of flowers. Very careful preparations had been made by the choir to have good music on this day, and it was certainly successful, as such pure and exalted strains of music as issued from that edifice could not have been excelled. Rev. Mr. Laurie's sermons were carefully prepared and eloquently delivered.

Easter lillies, in their spotless purity, adorned several of the thrones of worship, and let us hope, that the human lillies, as they wended their way homeward, carried with them the fragrance of a new inspiration of sacredness, and in their hearts the dew drops of a new and holier righteousness.

Now Ready for the Saw.

The DuBois Courier says: When the DuBois mills start for the season it will be to commence on an available stock of about 18,000,000 of logs. When our informant spoke of available stock he meant the logs delivered to the usual storage places in Sandy Creek. Literally all of Mr. DuBois' timber west of the summit is available for manufacturing at the mills of this place and bills are always sawed from timber taken directly fram the woods. Less then 3,000,000 feet of logs were left in the woods, which is rather remarkable following a winter of so little snow. Besides the logs remaining in the woods there is about 12,000 cords of bark for want of sledding to move it. The cut of hemlock timber this year on Mr. DuBois' territory tributary to this point will probably be some less than it was last year.

The Free Delivery.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Under the operations of the bill for the extension of the free delivery service to cities of 5,000 inhabitants and over whose post-offices have a good gross annual revenue of $7,000, the following Pennsylvania towns will get free delivery: Bellefonte, Bristol, Butler, Butler, Carbonsdale, Columbia, Danville, Franklin, Greensburg, Mahanoy City, Oil City, Phoenixville, Plymouth, Pottstown, Shamokin, Towanda, Tyrone, Uniontown, West Grove, Dunmore, Ashland and Tamaqua. Others may be added by the increase of revenue shown at the end of the fiscal year.

Necessitous Cases.

At the recent session of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the M. E. church the total receipts from all sources for the Board of Stewards and Necessitous Cases was $9,495.12, over 2,500 less than the amount apportioned to the several districts. The sum of $10,000 is asked for, to be raised during the ensuing year and apportioned to the several districts as follows: Altoona, $2,050; Danville, $2,100; Harrisburg, $2,100; Juniata, $1,700, Williamsport, $2,050.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Nauright, N. J.

If You Feel Dull and Languid

Dull and languid, have a poor appetite, and there is a lack of assimilation of food, it is an indication that the system is weakened, and rendered liable to contract serious disease. The blood needs purifying, and the general system requires a building up by the best of all Spring tonics—Brown's Sarsaparilla.

EPPING, N. H., May 6th, 1889.

Brown's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine. I know this as it has been in the house of my folks, and it is pronounced by them to be the best of all the Sarsaparillas for the blood, and will work wonders after others have failed, and were I in need of any medicine for the blood I would take that in preference to all others for the blood, kidneys, liver and stomach.

Dull and Languid

In the latter part of the winter and spring of 1885, I felt—I don't know how; no life; no ambition; no strength; drowsy; no appetite worth naming, and no relish for what little I did eat. I bought a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla. It seemed to do no good until nearly gone, when a tremendous itching of my feet and legs commenced; I continued till I had used six bottles; my appetite returned, my food tasted natural, and I, though now 63 years of age, feel as well and lively as I have for twenty years. I cannot speak too highly of Brown's Sarsaparilla.

Yours truly,
BENJAMIN HILL,
York Corner, Me.

Build Up the

A very strong case showing what Brown's Sarsaparilla will do for the children is that of the little daughter of Don A. H. Powers, Esq., of Houlton, Maine, brother of ex-Congressman Powers, and one of the leading lawyers of Aroostook county. His little five year old girl had been in delicate health, pale and with little appetite, for some time. Mr. Powers had never tried any patent medicines, and had little faith in them, but so numerous and strong were the words of commendation that came to him from neighbors and through the press, that he was induced to try a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla for the little one. This was used according to directions, and a second one purchased. What was the result? Mr. Powers says the variable appetite gave way to a natural and hearty desire for food, increased vigor and vivacity were noticeable, glowing cheeks and bright eyes took the place of the pallid face and sallow look, and the hearts of the parents were gladdened beyond expression by the wonderful change which had taken place in their darling.

System with

Annie B. Blodgett of Lisbon, N. H., writes: My husband and my niece have both taken Brown's Sarsaparilla by my advice, and we would not be without a bottle of it in the house. It has relieved me of many pains which I have suffered from for years. I have great faith in your medicine and wish I could commend it personally to all who are suffering from the many complaints of women caused by poor blood.

Brown's Sarsaparilla

FREIGHT DISCRIMINATION.

The Act Giving Triple Damages is Declared Unconstitutional.

In the suit of R B Wigton & Sons against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company Judge Biddle in Common Pleas Court No. 1 has delivered the following important opinion :

"This action is brought to recover from the defendant, a corporation created by the State of Pennsylvania, which owns and operates railroads between certain mentioned points, and are common carriers over the same, treble the amount with interest of the undue, unreasonable, excessive and unlawful charges of money, which it has heretofore charged, demanded and received for the carriage of coal for the plaintiffs over the said railroads from the plintiffs' mines in the Clearfield coal regions of Pennsylvania to certain points and consigness set forth in certain schedules annexed.

'It is alleged that the defendant carried similar coal during the same period and at the same time, between the same or equivalent points over the same railroads, in a like service for other persons at lower rates, in violation of the act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved June 4, 1883, P L 72.

After reciting the law in extenso and quoting many cases to sustain his argument, Judge Biddle said : "The treble damage clause is a menace against the violation of the act and the compensation for the successful enforcement of its provisions. In our opinion it applies to both or either, of the forms of discrimination. This branch of the demurrer is therefore not sustained.

"Believing then that the provisions of the act of Assembly of June 4, 1883, so far as they attempt to regulate the charges of freight transported from this State to foreign countries or to other States, to be unconstitutional and void, as being within the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress and forbidden to the State, as declared by the Supreme Court of the United States, the second ground of demurrer is sustained.'

R B Wigton & Sons are large coal operators whose mines are located in Centre and Clearfield counties, near Philipsburg.

M. EMMA MIDLAM.—TEACHER.

What a Lady Does Not Do.

There are several things always absent in a true lady, which girls will do well to notice and remember.

A lady, for example, will never ignore little kindnesses.

Conclude in a crowd that she has a right to push her way through.

Consume the time of people who can ill spare it.

Wear on the street a dress only fitted to the house or carriage.

Talk loudly in public places.

Wear a torn glove, when a needle and thread and a few stitches would make it all right.

Fail in answering letters or returning visits, unless she is ill or in trouble.

Fret about the heat or cold, the sun, or the rain, the air, or the lack of it.

Make an engagement and then not be on time.

Complain of her family, or discuss personal affairs with strangers.

Always believe the worst rather than the best side of a story.

A lady does not do any other than make the best of everything—the world, the weather and herself. She believes in the golden rule and endeavors as far as possible to live up to it; and that's what you and I ought to promise every morning that we will try and do during the day.

A New Law School.

A new law school is to be opened on the first Wednesday in October at Carlisle, Pa. Fifty-five prominent lawyers of this and adjoining states, among whom are Gov. Beaver, Ex-Gov. Curtin and His Honor, Judge Furst, all of this place, have obtained a charter of incorporation and will hold their first meeting in June for the organization and election of a faculty. This will be a blessing to the State of Pennsylvania and we wish it great success.

Of Interest to Fishermen.

The liberality of a few anglers in Hollidaysburg and vicinity has secured for the Juniata river and tributaries the following valuable additions in the way of food fish, and in order to secure success of the plant all fishermen are kindly reminded that it is absolutely necessary not to catch or kill any of the hereinafter enumerated varieties this year, as time must be given them to spawn. None of them have ever been planted east of the mountains and all ranking as first quality, either for table or sport. In case any are caught, unless the hook has been swallowed or penetrated the gills, all true sportsmen and fishermen should return at once to the stream. In order to distinguish them, a brief description may be necessary.

The California trout (salmo tridens) are abundant in Oregon and California; introduced into Pennsylvania by the state commission; the fry planted in the Susquehanna and Juniata. These are the first adult planted, and will, beyond question, propagate and flourish. They are the pride of the angler and fully equal to the brook trout. In form, stout, head short, rather blunt, mouth small, fins and tail black spotted, a few small black spots on the ribs and black sides of belly rosy red or silver.

The blue cat is not indigenous to streams flowing into the Atlantic. The pecsies introduced are said not to be the common channel cat. Common in the Ohio and its tributaries, but natives of Reel Foot Lake, Tennessee; do well in any kind of water, and ready for the table any time of the year. They are especially adapted to pond culture, having a white, tender and finely flavored flesh with no intermuscular bones. They guard their spawn and stay with their young till about two inches long, having a strong tendency for the bottom. These will be easily distinguished from the Pennsylvania varieties and grow much larger; head moderate, dorsal region not especially elevated, spinis long, coloration of the olders, bluish silvery; young ones spotted with olive.

BONNER.

All persons interested in improving the blood of their horses should call at the Brockerhoff House stables and see the trottingbred horse Bonner His proprietors intend to have him kept for service. The pedigree of this horse as authentically traced is as follows:

The sire of Bonner was by Knickerbocker, whose sire was Rysdeckes Hambletonian, and the dam of Bonner's sire was by Messenger. The dam of Bonner was a Vermont Morgan whose dam was a Starr mare.

These horses are all world renowned as every intelligent horseman knows. The dam of Bonner trotted in 2.40 at the age of 22 years.

This horse has always been kept for service. However after one week's training upon the track, at Lewisburg he trotted in 2.58 and competent judges declare that if properly handled he would be trotting in the teens.

Bonner is a mahogony bay, will be 9 years old in May, and weighs 1000 lbs. He has bred colts that weigh 1400 lbs. and he has lighter offspring that are very promising for roading and for speed. f-20-3m

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked and frequently entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat, sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best and only cure. 2 w

MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT.

Attempt to Kill a Well Known Mount Vernon Citizen.

STRUCK BY TWO BULLETS.

Mr. F. W. Chivvis, While Returning from a Dinner Party, Is Fired On Twice by an Unknown Assailant. Mistaken for a Burglar.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., April 5.—Much excitement prevails in this village over the announcement that a bold attempt had been made to kill F. W. Chivvis, a well known citizen of Mount Vernon, who was a member of the late dry goods firm of Conkling & Chivvis, at Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York.

The most sensational reports were circulated regarding the shooting, and it was said that Mr. Chivvis had been shot down in the highway for the purpose of robbery, as it was generally known that he always wore valuable diamonds.

The Affair a Mystery.

Mr. Chivvis, accompanied by Frank Wright, principal of a public school in New York, and J. Brewster Smith, the well known carriage builder of New York, was out to dinner last night.

The shooting occurred while they were returning home. Mr. Chivvis' home is in that part of Mount Vernon known as Chester Hill. It has not yet been learned just how the shooting occurred.

The three men were evidently in a merry mood, and it is reported that Mr. Chivvis was wounded while skylarking with his companions. This, however, is not admitted by either of the three men.

Took Him for a Burglar.

Mr. Chivvis himself says that he was shot while attempting to enter the house next to his own, the occupants mistaking him for a burglar. He thought that he was at his own house.

Mr. Chivvis was fired at twice. One bullet entered his right breast and passed around the ribs to the back, where it was extracted. The other bullet passed through Mr. Chivvis' clothing.

As near as can be learned the shooting occurred at about half past 2 o'clock this morning. Mr. Chivvis was assisted into his house by his companions, and Dr. Thomas Taylor was hastily summoned. When he arrived he succeeded in extracting the bullet from Mr. Chivvis' back. During the operation Chivvis was under the influence of morphine.

Extremely Reticent.

It was a 38-caliber bullet. Dr. Taylor has been with Mr. Chivvis all the morning, and the doctor says that Mr. Chivvis is resting quietly. The doctor will not as yet venture an opinion as to whether the wound will prove fatal.

Mr. Chivvis' friends are extremely reticent when asked for the true version of the shooting. Neither Mr. Smith nor Mr. Wright has made any statement regarding the affair except to say that the shooting was accidental.

Both Mr. Wright and Mr. Smith went to New York this morning to attend to business.

Mr. Chivvis has not yet made a full statement regarding the affair to any one, as his physician orders that he must have absolute quiet for some hours to come. Dr. Taylor refuses to allow any one to see Mr. Chivvis.

He Took Strychnine.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 5.—M. R. Alexander, of Temsoula, son of Gen. B. S. Alexander, United States army, and brother of Lieut. W. S. Alexander, at Fortress Monroe, Va., committed suicide by taking strychnine. He had lately been drinking heavily and left a note stating his intention to take his own life.

The Vatican Will Fight.

—It will now soon be time for the Lutheran congregation to resume work on their new church.

—Twenty-four separate tracts of land are advertised to be sold at Sheriff's sale on Saturday, April 26th.

—The treasurer's sale of unseated lands is out. It is quite large, there being 680 tracts advertised.

—That big hearted Adjutant General D. H. Hastings, was an arrival on the 9.32 train Friday morning.

—Military men and gubernatorial timber are as plenty in Centre county as stones are on roads.—Centre Reporter.

—An exchange says "the busy time for the nursey men is coming." What's wrong with the women, have they gone on a strike?

—Did you ever see a nicer spring day than Thursday? It would not take many such days to dry up the mud and make the roads fit for traveling.

—Robert Stevens, who was formerly a resident of Tyrone, but who has been living in Bellefonte for a few years, will shortly remove to Tyrone again.

—Trout fishermen are putting their tackle in order now in anticipation of the opening of the season for fishing which is on the 15th of this month.

—The Bellefonte Methodist church gave five hundred dollars during the last year to missions instead of four hundred as reported in various news papers.

—It is not right and proper to abuse a man when his time is as short as that of Alfred Andrews, neither is it truly penitent for Alfred Andrews to try to abuse other men.

—It has repeatedly been suggested that the borough or county paint the superstructure of the High street bridge over Spring Creek. It would certainly add very much to its appearance.

—We notice that Prof. Geo. P. Bible, of Lock Haven, is booked to give a musical and elocutionary entertainment together with stereoscopic views of the Johnstown disaster, in Kelley's hall, Osceola, on Friday evening, April the 11th.

—Thursday night was very much like an August night only a little hotter. If these sudden changes in the weather continues we will never know when we have summrr or when we have winter —Hereafter the sale of fruits, confectionery and novelties will not be alowed on the Pennsylvania railroad. Only newspapers, books, periodicals and cigars, the latter in the smoking car, can be sold.

—The Lock Haven Democrat bemoans the fact that so many people in moving now-a-days forget to take their "cattle" with them; also the back yard ash pile. Such thoughtless persons should be arrested for cruelty to animals and a nuisance to their neighbors. How would that do?

—Wallace will accept the Democratic nomination for Governor—he has said so in a letter to Edward Harvey, of Allentown, Pa. That is, he will accept if they give him as a platform harmony and a promise of "good government" and "progressive reform." As it will be no trouble to that party to give him the promise of all these his candidacy can now be announced as a sure thing, his nomination is O. K. and his election, ah!

—The Watchman seems terribly flustered because the two leading journals of Centre county, the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN, and the Keystone Gazette differ in opinion as to the merits of Mr. Wanamaker's statesmanship, and measuring others by his own standard is prolific in allotment of selfish motives. Then, too, Editor Meek fancies he knows who writes for the REPUBLICAN and actually names an author and accuses him of being governed by no higher motives than those that eminate from what is sometimes called "the mind" of the editor of the Watchman. Has it not occurred to that very virtuous and astute editor that if anyone, who held investments in telegraph enterprize, feared the action of the government on telegraph matters, he could at any moment dispose of his holdings for cash at excellent prices? We are grieved to have to commend the editor of the Democratic Watchman to a careful examination of the moral of his own convictions.

Mrs. Dainty.

Mrs. Dainty's progress has been little less than marvelous. Petite in figure, with a sad face, a mobile countenance and a rich, flexible voice, she seems especially fitted to become an interpreter of the pathetic and the humorous, to which the pathetic is so closely allied. She is wholly original, and her impersonations have a most charming freshness and novelty, in which there is no trace of staginess or imitation.—Chicago Times.

The above lady will be one of the leading figures to appear in the Harvard Quartette which will be in Bellefonte on Friday evening, April 11th.

Gored by a Cow.

Tuesday an accident occurred to the eleven year old boy of S. Batcheler, of Philipsburg, that leaves much cause for thankfulness that it was not of a more serious character. He was in the act of tying one of the cows which turned suddenly upon him and gored him in a savage manner. One of the horns entered the little fellow's mouth and passed through the neck, in which is left a large gash where a hand could be thrust in. It was a marvel the whole side of his face had not been torn through. Medical aid was soon procured and Dr. McGirk is giving the little sufferer his best attention. A porton of the torn throat has been swallowed by the poor boy. We are pleased to know that his life is not in danger as the result. The horn of the cow, however, came in close contact with a vital artery.

Unionville Items.

The first of April did not fool us for although a mantle of snow covered the ground and the air was keen, giving an appearance of winter, we knew it was Spring and that old Sol's rays would soon dissolve the picture.

Flittings have been in order in this section, and many are now busy arranging things in new quarters.

We, in Unionville lose good friends and neighbors by the removal of Rev. Geo. Elliott and family to Bellefonte.

A commercial salesman by the name of Brown from Philadelphia, with his family, now occupy the Presbyterian parsonage. This adds one more to the list of commercial salesmen in this place.

Dr. Russell, while returning home from visiting a patient a few nights ago, ran his buggy against a post with considerable force which threw him to the ground injuring his left arm—though not seriously.

About 25 young people had a pleasant surprise party at J Cleaver's on the evening of April 1st.

The bad practice by the boys of jumping on the freight trains continues and the R R Co., should adopt some measure to break it up.

Three Items.

From the Lock Haven Democrat,

William Whiteman, son of the popular Alex, of Bellefonte, was in the city yesterday.

Captain Harry Simler, of Philipsburg, the officer who arrested Alfred Andrews, the murderer of Clara Price, arrived in the city last night and has been here all day looking up evidence in the Viedorfler-Forcey stabbing case, which it is thought will be amicably arranged. Captain Simler has developed into one of the best and surest detectives in the State. He was accompanied by Mr. Slinger, of the Ashcroft House, Philipsburg, an agreeable gentleman.

Lawrence L. Brown, chairman of the Centre county Republican committee and a prominent citizen of Bellefonte, was in the city this morning, en route for Jersey Shore. Mr. B. has but recently recovered from a severe case of the mumps and the disease thinned him down a little. Nevertheless he looks very well indeed, and as though he would be able to survive another Republican defeat in that county. Mr. B. stopped at the Fallon House and left on the Beech Creek road for his destination.

Another Prisoner Escapes.

Fred. Maher, of Erie, an inmate of the State Reformatory, at Huntingdon, escaped Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. He was working on the island opposite the institution, with a number of others, when he asked permission to get some nails. He was allowed to go, but did not return. He had crossed the river, and was last seen on the road leading to Alexandria. He is a short, heavy set young man, weighing about 175 pounds, dressed in the drab second grade suit, and has the number 252 on his cap.

The Forgemen Still Out.

The latter part of last week the forgemen, at Tyrone Forge, struck for an increase of 50 cents per ton, which was refused by the proprietors, and a strike is now on. From one of authority, we learn that even if the forgemen were willing to return at their old prices they could not go to work for three weeks at least, as the accumulated stock will be worked off before work is again resumed in the forge. This means bad times for the Forgemen, at least for the present, which we are sorry to hear.—Times.

—All work was suspended on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad on Friday because it was a legal holiday.

HASTINGS WON'T HAVE IT.

A Complete Resume of all the Delegates Thus Far Chosen and the Standing of the Different Candidates.

A special dispatch from Philadelphia says:

It can be stated upon the most reliable information that General Hastings has fully determined not to accept the position of Assistant Secretary of War. While the offer has not yet been made by either Secretary Proctor or President Harrison, yet it is known that the Adjutant General can have the place if he desires it. When Senator Quay left the Continental on Tuesday and called upon General Hastings at the Lafayette hotel, the Senator said the position was open to him if he cared to take it.

General Hastings recognizes the high compliment that has been paid him in connection with the offer, as it is only one degree removed from a Cabinet officer, but after mature deliberation he can not see how he can take it in justice to either himself or his friends.

A friend of Senator Quay's who is thoroughly conversant with the Republican situation and the standing of the delegates already elected, said that fifty-five of the 204 delegates that will comprise the convention have already been elected. It will take 103 votes to nominate. Hastings has Clearfield and Centre counties, with two delegates each instructed for him while the delegates from Juniata, Carbon, Mifflin and Snyder are known to be for him, making eight altogether. Delamater has instructed for him the two delegates in Cambria, the three in Crawford and the four in Lackawanna, to which may be added those elected by County Committees in Fulton and Elk contrary to the party rules, making 11 altogether. Stone has the two from Northumberland and the delegates from Montour, making a total of three, while Lieutenant Governor Davies has the three from Bradford county instructed for him. The remainder of the delegates, a large portion of whom where elected nearly a year ago, are absolutely without instructions or pledges. They are as follows:

Schuylkill, 6; Berks, 5; Delaware, 3; Tioga, 2; Wayne, 2; Susquehanna, 2; Wyoming, 1; Adams, 2; Monroe, 1; Bucks, 3; Sullivan, 1; Columbia, 2; a total of 30.

Senator Quay's expressed desire is well known to have been in favor of uninstructed delegates, and there are very few of the 55 delegates already chosen, who would not yield to his wishes, whatever his choice may be.

$20 A Picture.

Since the notice published in the DAILY NEWS a few days ago, by request of Mr. Bunnell, asking for a photo of Mr. Isaac Haupt, his dog cart and pony, that gentlemen has had so many applications for them that he has had some taken and will sell them to all who desire it at $20 a picture. The following is a fac similie of the picture.

Ex-Governor Curtin.

Ex-Governor Curtin is the only living ex-minister to Russia. A letter of regret received from him was read at the banquet to Charles Emory Smith, th departing new minister to the country of the Czar, on Monday night. Mr. Curtin was unable to be present because of poor health and was afraid to expose himself lest he might have another attack of the grip.

Two Deaths.

On Wednesday night, Thomas Loughrey, of Union township, died from congestion of the lungs. Deceased was well known in Bellefonte. He was aged about 75 years. The remains will be brought to this place on the 9.32 train Saturday morning and interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

The second was the death on Wednesday of the two year old son of Frank Weaver, of Nittany Valley. Funeral Friday at 2 o'clock.

—Monday's papers informed us that Senator Quay is far from satisfied with the Delamater canvass, and is particularly alarmed at the effects produced by the Delamater "steal" of the Cambria delegates, which he pronounces a "piece of stupid blundering." If Senator Quay has the welfare of the Republican party at heart, he will unload the Delamater-Martin cargo, and allow the State Convention, untrammeled, to name a strong and popular ticket, composed of true and tried Republicans who own their souls. With such a ticket Republican success in November is assured.—Lancaster Examiner.

HIS END IS NEAR.

And He Yet Maintains a Calmness that is Astonishing. Says He will Tread the Gallows Firmly.

From Saturdtys DAILY NEWS.

Only Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday morning shortly after ten o'clock Alfred Andrews will be led out of the jail of Centre county and the dire penalty for his crime—the stern mandate of the law—to be hanged till dead will be executed upon his person and then again will the law and justice be avenged, and only then can Centre county breathe again the air of peace and purity—the blood of the victim that cried out from the grave for vengeance has been wiped out with blood; life has been given for life; man has adjudged the law and the facts and it now all rests with God to judge the subject.

Even as he stands so near the open coffin, the black, yawning abyss of his grave, all overshadowed by that terrible reality, the gallows, he does not tremble. But instead maintains with most emphatic assertions that he will go to his doom with no trembling limb or halting step.

A DAILY NEWS representative visited Andrews in his cell and found him busily engaged writing farewell letters. He had written the last message to his father and it was piled promiscously with a half dozen or so other letters upon one corner of his small table. The prisoner for awhile was seemingly very much engrossed with his writing and that fact gave our representative a good chance to observe him closely. Andrews has lost no flesh through his long confinement, but there is a certain nervous apprehensiveness about him that has not been so noticeable until now. He seems at times preoccupied, uncertain, apparently as if he were labering under a great mental strain and was not capable of concentrating his entire mind on one thing. Yet with all this he looks well. The prisoner soon tired writing and then turning around talked quite cheerfully.

He said that he had now no fear of death and that it was his determination to meet it bravely. His worst thoughts are about the manner of his death not the time of it. He seems very certain and at perfect ease regarding his future. Says he bears no one any ill will though he yet maintains that there was considerable lying done on the witness stand during his trial. He thinks the better way would be to keep all witnesses in an ante room, only leaving one in at a time then there would be no chance of being overheard and two repeating the same story unless it was the true and correct one.

Andrews was taken into the jail yard on Thursday for an airing and enjoyed the change very much. He very critically examined the gallows, going up and all over them. There are now very few visitors allowed to see him. Every evening is spent in prayer—a meeting being held by members of the Y. M. C. A. or of one of the churches. He also reads considerable, so that between reading, writing and spiritual work his time is pretty well occupied. He yet sleeps well at night and eats as well as ever.

A Stabbing Affair at Gallitzin.

Fritz Chienelski is lying at the point of death at the Cleveland Hotel, Gallitzin, from knife wounds inflicted by Nicholas Mulhearn. The latter took a rope belonging to the former, and when Chienelski asked for it Mulhearn jumped upon him and cut him twice in the abdomen, once in the hip, once in the back, and once in his left hand. The assailant escaped.

KISSED ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

"You scoundrel," yelled young Jacob Green
At his good neighbor Brown,—
"You kissed my wife upon the street,—
I ought to knock you down."

"That's where you're wrong," good Brown replied,
In accents mild and meek;
"I kissed her; that I've not denied
But I kissed her on the cheek—and I did so because she looked so handsome—the very picture of beauty and health. What is the secret of it?"

"Well," replied Green, "since you ask it, I will tell you; she uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I accept your apology. Good night."

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces, blotched with unsightly pimples, dull, lustreless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted, can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. It is a positive specific for leucorrhea, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb.

ELIXIR OF LIFE AND HEALTH.

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE,

far surpassing alcohol in any shape as a tonic it might be called

since it stimulates, invigorates and regulates digestion, nutrition, secretion, excretion, respiration, and all the functions whereby life is maintained—we literally take in vitality in spoonfuls.

It is too much to assert that the equal of Vinegar Bitters does not exist, as no counterpart or compound with similar virtues has ever been known if remarkable for nothing else, would be immortalized by the production of the medicinal fruits, roots and herbs of which this Bitters is composed. Many of them used by the Indians and the medical profession in the treatment of chills and fevers, rheumatism, catarrh, consumption, neuralgia, headaches, liver complaint, kidney disease, jaundice, gout, piles, boils, skin diseases, &c., &c., too numerous to mention, but easily understood when the action of the Bitters on the vital functions is remembered. Local Department.

—Lent has gone.

—This is a gloomy, dismal day.

—How many Easter eggs did you eat on Sunday.

—The mercantile appraisement will be out this week.

—The weather on Easter was lovely as it could possibly be.

—Newspaper men from a distance are plenty in Bellefonte to-day.

—Bob Burdette will lecture in Tyrone on Friday evening, April 18th.

—It is now said that 4-Paugh will be in Bellefonte on Saturday, May 24th.

—John G. Love, Esq., will deliver the Memorial Day oration in Lock Haven on May 30.

—Bellefonte is full of people to-day—but there are more outside than inside the jail yard.

—Forepaugh's show will be in Altoona on May 14th, Wonder what day it will be in Bellefonte.

—If the weather would continue this warm it would not be long until garden making time will be here.

Mr. Charley Wolfe and sister Carrie, of Tyrone, are guests at the residence of Mr. W. C. Cassiday, of this place.

C. H. Armitage, of the Elmira Telegram, is in Bellefonte to "do up" the Andrews execution for that paper.

—Mr. Reed, late postmaster at Tyrone, has now fully retired from the office and Captain Jones must now "go it alone."

—Secure your seat now for the Harvard Quartette in the court house on Friday night. It is going to be something worth while going to hear.

—Fifty-six veteran soldiers of Tyrone and vicinity have come out in a card calling for the nomination of J. D. Hicks, Esq., for Congress from that district.

—The Philadelphia Times' picture gallery, illustrating candidates getting Easter eggs, was well gotten up and showed General Hastings as having a good hold on his egg.

—Wednesday, the 9th, the day of the execution of Alfred Andrews, is the 25th anniversary of the surrender of Lee, which marked the downfall of the Southern Confederacy.

—Workmen are now busily engaged on the foundation of the Garman Opera House, and it will undoubtedly be up and ready for entertainments by the time the season will open next fall.

—The people of a town, by giving their support to their local newspaper, get the news most interesting to them and get it in the most readable form, and they also contribute to the progress of their town.

—Bellefonte Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle will hold their installation of officers this evening. About 60 members now belong. Deputy Grand Chief Grenoble will be here and act as installing officer.

—Mrs. Angelina McBride and niece, of Lemont, were in Bellefonte Saturday and gave this office a pleasant call. Come again, ladies; we are always glad to see the fair sex come in. It makes a bright spot in the gloom of an editor's den.

—Arbor day—next Friday—will be appropriately observed by the schools in this place. At the new school house the graduating class will have charge of the exercises, which promise to be something unusually excellent. Go and witness them on Friday afternoon.

Miss Grace Wobbe, niece of our popular landlord of the Brockerhoff House, and her friend, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, two very fine looking and intelligent ladies departed on the 10.30 a. m. train on Saturday for a visit to Miss Wobbe's aunt, Mrs. Capt. Carswell, of Johnstown, Pa. They also intend to visit Mrs. Taylor's sister, Mrs. Barron, of Altoona. We trust the ladies will have a pleasant trip.

—Henry Ellenberger, of Cold Stream, about three weeks ago, suffering from a very severe toothache, went to the dentist to have the tooth extracted. It was so thoroughly rooted that it could not be pulled. A preparation was given him to put in the tooth for killing the nerve. Mr. Ellenberger unfortunately kept using an over-quantity of the liquid, likely swallowing a portion of it, and as a result his system has become poisoned and he is suffering very much indeed. For about eighteen nights in succession he has not taken his bed.

—Andrew Niforth, who has charge of a gang of men near Marengo, this county, taking out logs for P. Flynn, met with a terrible accident near that place on Saturday afternoon. It appears that while he was standing opposite a wagon, directing the loading of some logs, one of the logs slipped, rolled off the wagon, and catching him, bore him to the ground injuring him so seriously that he cannot possibly live. Witnesses of the accident say it was a terrible sight, the man being crushed so that part of his bowels actually protruded through his flesh. It is a distressing case. Niforth's wife died only a few months ago, and he will leave several children doubly orphaned.

HANGED

Alfred Andrews Pays the Penalty of His Crime.

He Never Trembled

READ, SPOKE AND PRAYED FROM THE SCAFFOLD.

About Five Hundred Present

His Last Day and Hours—Never Murmured at His Fate—Ate a Hearty Breakfast—Other Scenes and Incidents

THE MARCH TO THE SCAFFOLD.

Began at 10.43 and in the following order: Sheriff's Leaby and Cooke; the prisoner supported on either side by Revs. Houck and Sarvis; deputy Sheriff Wilson and Lowell Meyer, and then the jury who were as follows; Abram Trimble, H. M. Walker, Christ Decker, C. M. Bower, A. L. Cathermae, Marius Miner, S. R. Pringle, Geo. Brandon, Samuel Bennison, G. G. Mattern, Geo. Hastings, Isaac Smith, and the ascent to the scaffold was in the same order.

ON THE SCAFFOLD.

The first thing was a call for a glass of water after receiving, which the prisoner stepped to the railing and, in a voice as calm and strong as any man's, spoke "Well, gentlemen; I am going to read to you the 15th chapter of Romans. I want you all to do as I have done—repent and come to the Lord. I hope you will heed my warning. I know there are some in this crowd who are not prepared and as good as I am. There are some here who would take me and throw me in the lake of fire, but thanks be to God through the holy merits of this bible, my Jesus has saved me and I can rejoice in him." The prisoner then read the chapter above referred to, at different intervals exhorting those present to repent of their evil ways and come to the Saviour. He asked God's guidance on all that they might never come to that end. He said he was sorry he took the life of that innocent girl but he was willing to pay the penalty, and he hoped to meet her in heaven.

Andrews then kneeled and and prayed earnestly for a few minutes after which he thanked the Sheriff, county commissioners and all those who ministered unto his spiritual and physical welfare, and then bid good bye to all.

The rope was adjusted, the black cap drawn and just eighteen minutes after mounting the scaffold. His neck was not broken by the fall but he died of strangulation. There was considerable twitching of the arms and legs, and other muscles of the body, and for a few minutes, a wheezing in the throat as if trying to breathe. He was pronounced dead in 18 minutes and was cut down inside the half hour.

The body was turned over to Solomon Confer, of Milesburg, who will give it a decent burial. There were about five hundred persons present to witness the execution. It rained hard and the jail yard was just a sea of mud.

During the trying time Andrews never flinched. It was one of the strongest exhibitions of nerve ever witnessed on the gallows. The man examined the noose and shackles critically and with as much unconcern as if he was the Sheriff and not the prisoner.

A GLOOMY DISMAL DAY.

This was a gloomy, dismal day for anybody to be out notwithstanding that this morning there was to be ushered, according to the stern mandate of the law, a human being from time to eternity. The rain descended in torrents all morning and the jail yard was one plot of soft, slipping mud. The gallows and everything else outside was wet and disagreeable but notwithstanding the law must be avenged and the decree of the courts fulfilled.

HIS LAST DAY.

Tuesday, the last day of the doomed man was spent much like other preceding days for weeks back. He read, prayed and conversed on his execution, and received a few intimate and personal friends in his cell. Some of those who visited him prayed with him, while all spoke words of good cheer and sympathy.

HIS LAST NIGHT.

Tuesday night, the last one upon this earth, was spent in a quiet, undemonstrative way. Early in the evening a few visitors were admitted to take a final farewell. Later members of the Y M C A held their last meeting in his cell, which was a very solemn and feeling one and one that will undoubtedly leave a lasting impression on all who were present. After they departed Mr. Cann, an Englishman, and acquaintance, was left alone with the doomed man and his keeper. It was twelve o'clock when the two were left alone. They sat and talked until one o'clock when Andrews retired and from that time till almost 6 o'clock this morning he slept as soundly as a babe. He had a breakfast of eggs and toast with a few potatoes and cup of coffee shortly after six.

HIS LAST HOURS.

After he had partaken of his breakfast he called all his fellow prisoners around the door of his cell and then read a chapter from the Bible and prayed, after which he spoke feelingly and very eloquently—especially urging all to abstain from the use of whiskey. Soon after his spiritual advisers, Revs. Houck and Sarvis, and Prof. Lowell Meyer entered and then commenced service of singing, prayer and praise that lasted until the start to the gallows was made During all this time no signs of any weakening was shown. The prisoner, in this respect, had a great surprise in store for all as it was the firm conviction of everybody that he would utterly break down.

READING OF THE DEATH WARRANT.

It was just half past eight o'clock when Deputy Sheriff Wilson read the death warrant to the prisoner. During the reading Andrews stood with his arm on Wilson's shoulder and not a tremble of the man's body was visible. Last evening he requested to be shown the rope with which he would be hanged. It was taken to him. He examined it critically, put the noose around his neck and adjusted the knot after which he remarked that "It would do." His manner was more that of a person at play than one examining his own means of death.

THE CRIME FOR WHICH HE DIED.

Alfred Andrews was an Englishman—having been born in the town of Ponsanoth, county of Cornwall, England, on the 6th day of March 1868, hence he was to-day just 22 years, one month and three days old. He came to this country about three years ago and shortly afterwards landed in Lock Haven. He lived at various places, Lock Haven, Beech Creek, Karthaus and Brisbin, the latter place being his home at the time the crime was committed. He was married or says he was—to a young widow whose parents then lived (and do yet) at Karthaus.

On the 26th of November, 1889, Andrews left Brisbin telling his wife he was going to Lock Haven to get some money due him by Mr. McCloud, but he never went there. He went to the house of Mrs. Croft, on the road between Snow Shoe and Karthaus and there he stayed all night. He departed the next morning, going toward the latter place, having said that he was going there, but he never reached there. The last seen of him on that road was when he was seen by Ellen Watson passing her house just a short time after Clara Price had passed. He was next seen in a log job off to the left. From there he was traced out to the pike at Boak's store and then by way of Gorton Heights and the Beech Creek railroad back home, where he arrived on the 28th.

The body of Clara Price was found about 10 o'clock on the 27th of November lying by the side of the road a short ways below where she had been last seen, dead with several bullet marks upon her person. Suspicion at once pointed to Andrews as the man who did the deed and he was traced to his home in Brisbin where he was arrested in the cellar on the last day of November. He was taken to Philipsburg and the next day—Monday—brought to Bellefonte and incarcerated in the jail. He maintained his entire innocence of all knowledge of the crime, only what he had read in the papers.

He was given a preliminary hearing on a writ of habeas corpus and the evidence again him was considered sufficiently strong to hold him for trial. His case was brought up for trial on Tuesday afternoon of the last week in January and lasted until the next Tuesday at 5 o'clock when the Judge finished his charge and the jury retired.

Andrews had the benefit of a good, fair and impartial trial. His attorneys, Messrs. Spangler and Chambers, did all in their power to save his neck but the evidence was too overwhelming and when it come to be reviewed in the plea of Ex-Judge Orvis, who assisted district attorney, J. C. Meyer, it was so clear and convincing that the jury was out but one hour until they had arrived at a verdict—that of murder in the first degree. The same evening Andrews made a confession in which he acknowledged killing the girl but denied that he did it for the purpose which, from the evidence, was charged again him, to hide the evidence of an attempt to outrage. Andrews was sentenced by Judge Furst the following Saturday and the day was set by the governor, and to-day the last act has been enacted and the sad tragedy is ended.

Mr. C. G. Nissley, of the Tyrone Times was in Bellefonte on Tuesday evening.

The Ladies' Home Journal.

There is a pleasing atmosphere of happy domestic life about The Ladies' Home Journal which makes each number as welcome as sunshine. Lock Haven's Knitting Factory.

Samples of hosiery made at the Lock Haven Textile Company's factory in this city were exhibited in this office this morning by A. S. Grow Secretary and Treasurer of the Company. The samples shown were well made, and equal to any of similar grade in the market. Only three machines are in operation yet, as the work of fitting the delicate machinery and adjusting all the parts to the required nicety, takes considerable time. Three more machines will be put in operation on Monday and others will be fitted up as fast as possible until the whole of the fifty which it is intended to operate are working. The capacity of each machine is fifteen dozen per day. The girls who are operating the machines are learning rapidly and yesterday one of the young ladies turned out eight dozen, which is considered a good days work for a learner.—Lock Haven Express.

In Bellefonte on Friday Night.

Middletown, Or, Signal, Jan. 19, 1889:

The lecture committee had a surprise of a very pleasing character in store for all their patrons last night, and all who missed the second entertainment of the course missed a rare treat. This was given by the Harvard Quartette, who gave such excellent satisfaction that were they to appear again to-night they would be greeted by a crowded house. The Opera House was filled to its utmost capacity last evening with a crowd of delightful people, the occasion was the appearance of the Harvard Quartette, and to say that they gave good satisfaction would be a very mild way of putting it, for no concert company has ever given the variety or merited the continuous applause that the Quartette received. Every song was encored.

BOROUGH LEGISLATION.

Every Member of Council Present—A Long Session but not very Much Done.

The first thing after the adopting of the minutes at the meeting of council on Monday night was a statement by Mr. H. C. Yerger of the bad condition of the roof and lower floor of the building which is known as the Logan Hose House. The gentleman also stated that the company desired to repaper and recarpet the council chamber and would accept an appropriation from council to assist in defraying the expense. The first part was referred to fire and police committee for investigation and council then voted an appropriation of $50 to help in fixing up the room.

George W. Miller asked exoneration of four dollars water tax for 1889. Referred to finance committee for investigation.

Dr. Hafer asked for a side walk on Reynolds' avenue. Referred to street committee to report on when they inspect that thoroughfare.

Communication was read from citizens at the extreme Eastern end of Howard street asking for water extension. Referred to water committee for investigation and report.

Communication asking for the opening of alley in the rear of Smith street. Referred to street committee for investigation and report.

Street committee reported numerous bad walks and pavements and a good many new ones needed, on most every street in town. Council accepted report and voted that notice be given all parties that said sidewalks and pavements must be built and put in repair by the first day of May.

Water committee reported pipe laying on East Howard street almost completed Also that they had made the necessary inquiry and investigations into the coal bids recently made and laid the result before council. A vote was then taken on the bids received and contract was awarded to the Bellefonte Fuel & Supply Company at $1.69 per ton of 2000 pounds for best quality of bituminous coal to be delivered from the cars.

Fire and police committee reported a complaint from Mrs. Bush that Hoover & Miller have stored a lot of empty coal oil barrels in the old Snow Shoe depot, and are also storing oil within the borough. There is an ordinance prohibiting such doings and the committee was instructed to enforce it. Report was also made that the committee had inquired into the quality and price of hose and had heard from three places—Mr. Bush, the representative of one manufactory, being present in person, and explained at length, the merits of their hose. The purchase of said hose was again referred to fire and police committee with power to act.

The finance committee read the report of the borough treasurer which showed an indebtedness to said treasurer of $4,762.56.

Just then Mr. F. W. Crider came in and reported bad condition of the alley north of Linn street. The matter was referred to the street committee as was also the condition of several sewers in the borough about which complaints had been made.

Borough solicitor, Clement Dale, Esq., was present and read the ordinance to council that he had been delegated to draw up covering the remittance of license fee on theatres, play houses, etc. There was one objection to the ordinance and it was referred back to the Solicitor to be revised and fixed accordingly.

Bills were then approved and council adjourned after a session of almost two hours.

Mrs. F. J. Moore is seriously ill, and her complete recovery thought to be doubtful.

"Woman and Marriage."

You can't tell any more about a woman before you are married to her than you can judge of the quality of a pudding without eating of it. It is not necessary to eat the whole of a pudding in order to judge of its quality; no more is it necessary to know a woman a lifetime in order to ascertain whether she is going to do for a life companion.—Ladies' Home Journal.
